The opinions expressed in this column are the personal views of the writer and do not necessarily reflect those of the management; in fact, many times they do not.—Editor.

WELL WORTH READING

Popularity is a word that cannot be used in connection with ex-president, Herbert Hoover. Vicious and inspired propaganda has been effective, yet the man is much bigger mentally than those who have misrepresented him to the American people.

He may not have a speaking voice that charms, and he is sadly lacking in the politician's art of gladhanding, but he has brains, and although he now may "be a voice crying in the wilderness," the day will come when he will be accorded his rightful place in history.

Mr. Hoover delivered an address before the Ohio Society in New York last week. He said some very pithy, meaty things and if you are broad enough to lay aside your prejudices for a few moments, a perusal of a few excerpts from his speech, given below, may furnish food for thought:

"Our country shows hopeful signs of recovery despite great hindrances. That convalescence should be speedy and made secure. We should no longer tolerate financial policies that prolong unemployment that create fear and distrust and uncertainty, that slowly but surely undermine the industrial structure on which the living of the whole nation depends. We should no longer tolerate a money system that is not a money system, but a hodgepodge of promiscuous ingredients that not even the Administration will attempt to name, define, or defend. We should no longer tolerate gambling in the future of a nation with the dice of inflation. We should no longer tolerate a financial policy that does not balance the budget.

"The American citizen wants to know whether his savings are to be confiscated. The plain man wants to know whether his little life insurance policy is going to be worth

Commissioners Of Boy Scouts Are Reorganized

Reorganization of the Scout Commissioners Cabinet was perfected last evening at a dinner meeting of the organization held at the Hotel Carquinez.

Scout officials declare that by the reorganization move, Scouting in Richmond will be largely benefitted. Under the new set-up, the city is divided into five districts, with a commissioner named in charge of each district. There are two assistant commissioners.

The new arrangement finds Commissioner Louis Hall in charge of a district composed of Troops 5, 6, 9 and 12 and Cub Pack 5. William Finnegan will be his assistant. Commissioner T. H. Odell, assisted by Robert McLennin, will have charge of the second district for Troops 2, 7, 8, 13, 42 and 17. Walter Paasch will direct the Point District, which has Troop No. 1 and the Sea Scout troop. L. L. Chitwood directs Troops 10, 15 and Cub Pack 24 in his district; Homer Patterson will have charge of the Mira Vista area for Troop 18 and Cub Pack 10, while Earl Corey will have charge of El Cerrito.

Joseph Miller presided over the meeting. Dr. A. B. Hinkley of the executive board addressed the session.

Crash Injuries Fatal To Pilot

SEATTLE, Nov. 19.—UP—Leslie Tower, chief test pilot for the Boeing Aircraft Company, died tonight at Dayton, Ohio, from injuries suffered in the crash of the huge Boeing bomber, officials of the firm were informed.

Tower, veteran pilot who took the "flying fortress" East, was burned critically when it crashed to the ground during U. S. army tests. An army airman also was killed in the crash.

North China State Will Be Declared By Japanese Today

PEIPING, Wednesday, Nov. 20—UP—The autonomous North China State probably will be declared at noon today, Japanese newspaper correspondents understood.

Chinese sources confirmed the report but no official information was available.

Dispatches from Nanking indicated that the Central government headed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek will not offer armed opposition to the plan.

PLANS COMPLETED

Major Kenji Doihara, chief political agent of the Japanese army who is credited with promoting the whole scheme, told newspapermen late last night that "Chinese plans for an autonomous North China Council have been completed."

"I expect formal announcement of the new regime shortly," Doihara continued.

Chinese leaders then reportedly told Japanese correspondents that they would wait until noon today "when we plan to act on our own responsibility if no definite plan is forthcoming from Nanking."

MANY RUMORS

All sorts of rumors were in the air. One Chinese official at midnight said: "I expect an announcement of the autonomous council

Member Drive Is Launched By Veterans Post

Honor Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars launched its new year last evening with a membership drive, whereby the Post expects to increase its list of active members 100 percent.

"Pep" talks were delivered during the session, held at Memorial hall, by Departmental Vice Commander George F. Imbach and others.

C. O. Davis, the new commander, presided over the meeting, which was followed by a banquet, served by the new officers.

Berkeley Driver To Face Charges

David Milligan, 35, of Berkeley, was lodged in the El Cerrito city jail last evening, charged with driving while drunk.

Milligan was arrested by Patrolman Filoyd Gilbert on San Pablo avenue as he was allegedly driving in an erratic manner.

WIFE ATTACKS MATE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19—UP—Emil Bazzini, 40, went rejoicing from a courtroom, freed of marital bonds by a divorce decree. A moment later he burst into the room, crying for help. "Is there a policeman here," he shouted. "My wife just hit me." A bailiff escorted him safely outside.

MUSSOLINI SEES FLAWS IN SANCTIONS

WITH THE ITALIAN NORTHERN ARMIES, VIA ASMARA, Nov. 19—UP—The Italian advanced position around Makale was virtually surrounded tonight by large and small Ethiopian detachments and the bloodiest battle of the Italo-Ethiopian war appeared imminent.

As native Askaris sent from Makale and Mount Gundi engaged outposts of Ras Siyoum's 30,000 shock troops camped in the mountains of Eastern Tambien, northwest of Makale, native informers came panting into Makale with information that another strong Ethiopian force is marching north to attack.

BATTLE IS NEAR

Small, mobile bands of night-raiding pillagers are resisting efforts to "mop up" the Gheralta district behind Makale.

According to the informers, a well-armed force is moving toward Scelicot, about 10 miles south of Makale, preparatory to an attempt to drive a wedge into the Italian lines east of Makale toward Dolo.

The Ethiopians evidently are determined to recapture Makale by thrusting at the flanks from east and west and at the same time has

Book Week Will Be Observed At Public Library

The Richmond Public Library is celebrating the seventeenth annual "Book Week" now in progress. The library has an interesting display of children's books in the boys and girls' room for the week.

Book week gives parents and teachers an opportunity to see modern books that are written for children as well as the reprints of the classics. "Reading For Fun" is the theme of this year's event.

Miss Katherne Davis, of the juvenile department, will interview and advise parents and others who are interested in careful selection of books for children. Her department is open from 2:30 to 6:00 on week days and from 10 to 6 on Saturdays. She has prepared a list of books suitable for children

Shearer Given One To Ten In Folsom Prison

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19 UP Despite contrary statements by George Moore, state printer, Chas. G. Johnson, state treasurer today denied he had seen William B. Shearer, former cashier of the treasury, or done anything to influence the cashier's attitude since his return from Fort Worth, Texas.

Shearer today pleaded guilty to a grand theft charge involving $21,000 of State funds and was sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Folsom prison. He fled from Sacramento September 18 and was arrested in Fort Worth two weeks ago, following discovery of treasury shortages.

Moore asserted today that Johnson introduced Shearer to him yesterday and then sat on a park bench with the former cashier.

Shearer was given permission to make a statement after sentence was pronounced by Superior Judge Martin I. Welsh.

"My idea of avoiding a trial," he said, "was to avoid expense for the state."

Bank Chief

ROBERT V. FLEMING of Washington, elected president of the American Bankers Association at the convention in New Orleans. Aside from his financial associations, he is interested in aeronautics and is a lieutenant commander in the reserve corps. Formerly vice president, he was elected unanimously.

Annual Dinner Of C. C. To Be Held Tonight

With reservations being received from far and wide, tonight's annual meeting of Chamber of Commerce will be an outstanding success, it was indicated in the Chamber announcement of yesterday. Among other things, the Richmond City Council and the County Board of Supervisors will be present virtually 100 percent. All Richmond business and professional men, whether members of the Chamber or not, are urged to attend.

The meeting will be in the form of a dinner at the Hotel Carquinez at 6:30 o'clock, and will bring together a representative number of outstanding community leaders of Richmond, Contra Costa county and from other cities of the bay region.

150 EXPECTED

P. M. Sanford, who will preside at the gathering, estimated the attendance would probably approximate 150, which is substantially the

Chinese Envoy Is Speaker At Meeting Of Elks

The Oriental situation was portrayed to members of Richmond Lodge of Elks last evening by C. Kwong, of the Chinese consulate at San Francisco.

The speaker discussed the chain of events which has led up to the Japanese demand for the formation of a separate state of North China and gave members of the lodge a good idea of what is taking place across the Pacific.

His talk was a part of the Chinese program held by the lodge in celebration of Past Exalted Rulers' Night. Mayor W. W. Scott was chairman of the evening and A. C. Lang arranged the program. The Cathay Club of San Francisco presented an all-Chinese musical program.

Next Tuesday night the lodge will hold its annual oyster feed with Charles Blechen in charge. On Friday night a whist party for Elks and their ladies will be held under the direction of A. G. Robertson.

300 POUNDS OF LETHAL MIX HUNTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—UP—Countless purchasers of bulk baking soda from a local department store tonight were warned they face possible poison death if they use the compound.

Three deaths already have occurred among persons who bought the preparation. Dr. J. C. Geiger, city health officer, said the soda was found to contain arsenic.

THREE ARE DEAD

The dead were:

Alfred Terry, 81.

Mrs. Bessie Shufelt, 53, his daughter.

Mary Ogle, 61.

Proprietors of the store were at a loss to explain how the soda, salvaged from damaged containers of a reputable brand, came to be poisoned.

600 POUNDS SOLD

Six hundred pounds of the soda were sold last month, and two barrels of the material have been sold since October 23.

It was revealed that nine other persons had been treated at an emergency hospital and had recovered from effects of the arsenic-charged compound.

Miss Ogle died November 7, after dining with Helen Handcock. Mis-

Church Trustees Continue Study Of Building Plan

Trustees of the First Presbyterian church, meeting under the direction of Charles W. W. St. John, last night continued their study of plans for the erection of a new $10,600 church in Richmond.

The trustees are awaiting answers to letters sent to various church groups in the area in regard to plans and specifications.

Members of the organization believe that they will be able to present their tentative plans for the new building to a meeting of the congregation in about three weeks.

Another session will be held by the trustees on December 2.

Richmond Couples File Wed Intentions

MARTINEZ, Nov. 19 Notices of intention to wed were filed with the county clerk today by the following Richmond couples:

Clarence Deniz, 25, of 2432 Loredo street, Richmond, and Dorothy Beth Markle, 19, of 302 Johnson street, Visalia.

Arthur H. Johnston, 26, of 526 Twenty-fifth street, Richmond, and Dorothy Faye Shoup, 20, of 552 Eighteenth street, Richmond.

Arthur F. Glover, 22, of 115 Summit Place, Richmond, and Leda N. Ghieri, 21, of 100 Pacific avenue, Richmond.

Serum Is Sent By Air To Aid Invalid

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—UP—While a United Airlines plane rushed northward from Los Angeles, stewardess Ardith Madsen gently pressed a tiny bottle between her hands. She held it carefully thruout the trip. It contained a serum needed by a Livermore sanitorium for a last-minute effort to save the life of a maleria fever victim. Los Angeles doctors asked her to hold the bottle to keep it at an even temperature until delivered.

Fred Prosser Will Face Bench Warrant On Contempt Charge

When City Clerk Fred J. Prosser, of El Cerrito returns from a "fishing trip to the Klamath River" he will find waiting for him a bench warrant issued for his arrest by Superior Judge A. F. Bray for alleged contempt of court for his asserted failure to comply with an order for payment for the support of his divorced and invalid wife and nine-year-old son.

Judge Bray issued the order yesterday afternoon in Martinez and the warrant was placed in the hands of Sheriff John A. Miller to be served.

$85 PER MONTH ALIMONY

Prosser was ordered to pay alimony of $85 a month for the support of his wife, Carolyn, and son, Fred, Jr., by the court about a year ago when Mrs. Prosser won her divorce decree. When her attorney, Wilbur Pierce, recently informed the court that he was in arrears, Judge Bray told Prosser he must meet the current alimony payment and $12.50 in back alimony. Monday was "deadline" for the payment. When he failed to pay the warrant was issued.

Prosser did not attend the meeting of the city council on Monday night. Councilman W. F. Huber acted in his capacity.

GUN MISSING

Yesterday Joe Guiffre, of 538 Everett street, El Cerrito, appeared at the city hall declaring he wanted to see Prosser to collect $10 in payment for a .25 calibre pistol he had sold Prosser several days ago. Guiffre was informed that Prosser had left telling city hall attaches that he planned to make a fishing trip. Hall employees saw him collecting personal effects on Monday morning. Neighbors were told by Prosser that he planned to go on the outing.

Rumors were heard in El Cerrito last night that Prosser had borrowed a large sum of money from a resident, on a personal note.

DREW SALARY

Before he left, the city clerk is said to have drawn his monthly salary of $150.

The missing city clerk received a salary of $150 a month and approximately $80 a month in additional fees.

T. H. DeLap, who acted as attorney for Prosser in the divorce action, stated last evening that he knew nothing about the matter, other than what he had read and had been told at the city council meeting, when Prosser failed to put in an appearance.

During Prosser's absence, Miss Margaret O'Connell, deputy city clerk, will fill his position.

Supervisors Add Nineteen More Voting Precincts

MARTINEZ, Nov. 19—Increases in population today led to the board of supervisors approving formally a proposal of County Clerk S. C. Wells to create 19 new precincts in Contra Costa county, sending the county's total number of precincts from 155 to 174.

Additions authorized include three new precincts in Richmond; two in San Pablo; one in Rodeo; one in Crockett; three in Martinez; two in Pittsburg; two in Antioch; dividing Lone Tree into two precincts; two in Walnut Creek; one in Concord; and dividing Pacheco into two precincts.

The addition of three precincts here will give the city 16 precincts. One new precinct would be created from the portion of Alhambra Valley precincts recently transferred into Supervisor district No. 3. It will be termed Martinez No. 16.

Under the new setup Richmond will have 45 precincts; San Pablo, 6; Rodeo, 3; Crockett, 8; Pittsburg, 16; Antioch, 8; Lone Tree, 2; Walnut Creek, 6; Concord, 8; Pacheco, 2.

TEACHER IS HELD GUILTY OF MURDER

WISE, Va., Nov. 19.—UP—Edith Maxwell was convicted tonight of first degree murder for killing her father because he invoked the code of the mountains and tried to whip her for staying out until midnight with a boy.

The verdict carries a penalty 25 years in prison.

True to the age-old morality of the hills, the jury of 12 hill men brought in a verdict that sustains the authority of a father as dictator and a lord of the household.

SISTER PRESENT

The pretty black-haired school teacher received the verdict clutching at the arm of her brother, Earl Maxwell.

"It's all right, it's all right," she said to him as he leaned over and tried to console her.

On the other side of her was her 11 year old sister, Mary Catherine, who went to the witness stand and, in a tear choked voice, fought for Edith's freedom today.

HEARS VERDICT

Edith crouched back in her chair at the defense table, her black hair tightly curled under a brown hat. It was such ideas as rouge, curled

Sardine Plants Score Victory In Court Case

MARTINEZ, Nov. 19— Superior Judge Thomas D. Johnston today granted a temporary injunction prohibiting the California Fish and Game Commission from interfering with the operation three Contra Costan county sardine reduction plants or restricting their "takes" of sardines to a tonnage less than that allowed other plants.

The injunction, pendente lite, is effective until trial of the issues in the suit. The court required the suing companies, the Ozol Packing Company, The Point Edith Fisheries and the Edible Fish Meals and Oils Company to post bond of $500.

The three companies, through Attorneys A. B. Tinning and T. H. DeLap, charged the commission had arbitrarily and with discrimination fixed sardine quotas for new plants, such as those conducted by the plaintiffs, at one half of the allotment of 4,320 tons allowed 35 old plants.

Judge Johnston's order prohibits the commission from interfering with operation of the plants, interfering with their usage of 777 tons of sardines monthly or any unused portion of one month's allotment in another month.

The sardine seasons opens in September and continues until January.

Time for trial of the issues, when the commission will have opportunity to resist the claims of the plaintiffs, has not yet been set.

TENSION HIGH FOR BIG GAME ON SATURDAY

BERKELEY, Nov. 19—The two strongest teams in the West—in the West's blue-ribbon rivalry—with the Conference title and the right to be the western representative in the [illegible] Bowl as the stakes—meeting before a crowd that is certain to reach the 90,000 mark!

That's the picture this week as the Stanford Indians and the Golden Bears of California move into the biggest "Big Game" in years.

Not since 1924 has the situation been comparable to that which this week finds both campuses in the grip of [illegible] tension and the rival varsities going through their final preparations for the game. More than a decade ago it was that both Stanford and California went into the "Big Game" undefeated—and played one of the most dramatic [illegible] in the history of the sport [illegible] to 20 tie.

[illegible] this year does not [illegible] that of 1924 since Stanford has been defeated once [illegible] margin of [illegible] point, while California has [illegible] through to nine straight victories, allowing [illegible] points to be scored [illegible] opponents. But no "Big Game" in [illegible] has approached this [illegible], unless it was the [illegible] of 1929, when an undefeated [illegible] team went down to [illegible] 21 to 6 defeat at Palo [illegible].

[illegible] rooters are speculating [illegible] the outcome of the [illegible] Coach L. B. [illegible] Allison [illegible] varsity are round[illegible]. Only [illegible] questions is in [illegible] fullback spot, and [illegible] that the Bears [illegible] Stanford with [illegible] lineup [illegible] similar to that which faced Washington and UCLA. The condition of two Bear fullbacks, Ken Cotton and Perry Schwartz, is causing Allison worry. Both have ankle injuries which should not keep them out of the game, but if they are not up to par it is expected that Jack Howard, who had a field day against Pacific last week, [illegible] the call.

Safety Speech Is Heard By Lions

R. C. Douglas, San Francisco automobile dealer, was speaker of the day yesterday when the Richmond Lions Club held its meeting at the Hotel Carquinez. Douglas spoke on automobile driving. Bob Washburn of Washburn Brothers was chairman of the day.

A musical program was presented by James Finley, vocalist and by a quartet composed of Dr. W. B. Jenkins, Arthur Irwin, Charles Parker and Herman Pircher.

Almond Growers To Benefit By Treaty

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19—UP—vvReduction of Canadian tariff on American almonds will not benefit the California growers, T. C. Tucker, manager of California Almond Growers Exchange reported today.

Tucker said that Mediterranean almonds enter Canada and United States too cheaply for local growers to compete with them without a protective tariff. Canada's concessions will have little effect, with California's almonds shut out of Canadian markets as lightly as before.

Yawning Woman Enters 73rd Day Of Strange Case

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 10.—UP—Mrs. P. E. Wakelin, who has yawned five times a minute since Sept. 1, continued yawning into her 73rd day tonight, in spite of attempted remedies and advice from well wishers in all parts of the United States and Canada.

The woman, wife of a taxi driver, was advised, among other things, to get drunk, chew tobacco, pray, smoke a pipe, chew dill seed, listen to music, take calisthenics and apply mustard plasters.

The only thing that has given Mrs. Wakelin relief is a hot drink. The relief lasts about three minutes then the yawns begin again.

Although she has lost about two pounds a week since the attack started and is unable to sleep except for brief intervals, Mrs. Wakelin has remained cheerful and is hopeful that the curious ailment may be cured by a course of treatments advised by an Eastern nerve specialist.

Wool Growers To Voice Protest On Canadian Treaty

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19—UP—With the signing of the new trade agreement between United States and Canada, the New Deal theory of 'most favored nation' became issue number one on the program of the California Wool Growers' Association convention meeting here Thursday.

S. P. Arbios of Stockton, president of the association cited the pact as 'ridiculous' and viewed with alarm by both cattle and sheep men.

Members of the organization, which was founded 75 years ago for the purpose of securing an adequate protective tariff on livestock, fear that with this precedent other similar agreements will be made with Argentina, Australia and New Zealand.

A record attendance is expected at the opening session where San Francisco's mayor, Angelo Rossi will make the welcoming address.

MCNARY WILL SEEK REVISION OF TRADE PACT

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 19—UP—Senator Charles H. McNary was to leave Oregon tonight for Washington, D. C. for conferences with President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull next Monday in which he will seek revisions in the reciprocal trade agreement with Canada.

McNary carried 10,000 letters and telegrams from the Pacific Northwest lumber, dairy and livestock industries protesting lowering of duties and excise taxes on Canadian products in those fields.

Appointments with Secretary Hull and Mr. Roosevelt for Monday were confirmed before McNary left his Salem residence.

McNary said he was not collaborating with Senator Thomas D. Schall of Minnesota, who is leading the fight against the trade pact from his area.

Congressman Ernest Lundeen of Minnesota, visiting today at Vancouver, Wash., termed the reciprocity treaty "a new deal in inter-national nonsense."

McNary and others have intimated that they will challenge authority of the President to interfere with excise taxes.

Gaels Postpone W. S. C. Contest

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19—UP—St. Mary's will play Washington State college here on Saturday, Nov. 30, instead of Thanksgiving Day as originally scheduled, it was announced today.

The football game was postponed because experience has shown other Thanksgiving Day activities hurt football attendance severely.

Girl, 18, Faces Child Stealing Charge In Court

OAKLAND, Nov. 19.—UP—A deputy sheriff and a jail matron were enroute from Phoenix, Ariz., to Oakland today with a warrant for the arrest of Stella Cutting, alias Mrs. Stella Williams, 18, on charges of child stealing.

The girl was taken into custody at a camp of Indians this morning. With her was a two year old boy later identified as James Fox. Miss Cutting at first claimed the child was her son but later said she had taken care of him in Phoenix.

She told police she had quarreled with her husband in Phoenix and had decided to leave, but had grown so attached to the child she could not leave him behind.

Mrs. Dorothy Fox, mother of the child, swore out the warrant for Miss Cutting's arrest August 29, Phoenix police reported.

Miss Cutting told Oakland police she would waive extradition.

Back Pay Given To Cannery Men, Women Employes

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—UP—Almost $200,000 in piece rate adjustments has been paid to workers in California fruit and vegetable canneries since the first of the year the state division of Industrial Welfare reported today.

The payments were made to bring the wages received by 43,164 workers up to the minimum rates established for these industries.

The adjustments are ascertained through weekly audits by Division auditors of the payrolls of fruit and vegetable canneries and nut cracking and sorting establishments.

Nearly two thousand investigations, conferences and hearings have been held by the Division, which also grants permits to learners, infirm workers and home workers.

More Seats For Big Game To Be Open to Students

PALO ALTO, Nov. 19—UP—Additional seats were released to Stanford student fans today for the Big Game Saturday between the Stanford Cardinals and the University of California Bears.

The seats, situated in the end zone stands at the southern end of the field, were released to accommodate the tremendous body of Stanford students who will attend Saturday's game and those who were unable to obtain regular seats during the sale two weeks ago.

The Stanford rooting section will consequently be split in two divisions. The regular section for Stanford students is directly beneath the press box, on the west side of the stadium.

Sports Promoter Seeks Warrant

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—UP—Edward J. Lynch, former boxing and wrestling promoter at Dreamland auditorium, today obtained a warrant charging Lou Daro, Los Angeles wrestling promoter, with battery.

According to Municipal Judge D. S. O'Brien, who issued the warrant, Lynch asserted Daro struck him during a quarrel at the Whitcomb hotel last night. He declined to reveal the cause of the quarrel.

Sports observers today recalled there reputedly was ill feeling between the two men when Lynch was promoter at Dreamland as a result of a north-south wrestling "war."

$50,000 Damages In Moraga Fire

MORAGA, Nov. 19—Fire of unknown origin early this evening destroyed a barn owned by the Moraga Land Company, cremating three horses and destroying more than 5,000 tons of hay. Loss is estimated at $50,000.

The Orinda fire department was called to the scene, but the flames had gained such headway that their efforts were unavailing. The firemen, aided by volunteers, then directed their efforts to protect adjoining homes which were menaced by the blaze.

Sly Boy Danno

IT SEEMS that Danno O'Mahoney, Irish wrestler, who recently won the world heavyweight championship, fell in love with Julia Esther Burke and they were married in Cambridge, Mass. But the wedding, which was held on Oct. 26, wasn't made known until recently.

CARDS UNDERDOGS

PALO ALTO, Nov. 19.—UP—Three of Stanford's famous "four horsemen" will be in the game Saturday against California. They are Bobby Grayson, Bill Paulman and Bones Hamilton. Frank Alustiza is the only member of the once-famous "sophomore" backfield who is out, and in his place little Jimmy Coffis will run and block for the Cardinals.

Although on the face of it Stanford is on the short end of 10 to 8 betting odds Cardinal fans take considerable heart from the fact that their team has made more yardage from running attack in seven games than the Golden Bears have in 9. Coach Tiny Thornhill seems confident that the Indians are on the warpath and will win.

STUB IS GLOOMY

BERKELEY, Nov. 19.—UP—Coach Stub Allison has apparently determined to keep spotless his record of predicting defeat for his California Bears in every important game this season. [illegible] he refuses to listen to the betting odds which favor his team and picks Stanford to win in the big game at Palo Alto Saturday.

The injury of Jack Brittingham and Jud Callaghan has made the usually strong right end position look like the weakest spot in the California defense. Sophomore Henry Sparks will probably start in the wing position but California fans fear he will have difficulty stopping Grayson and Hamilton's sweeping runs.

GAELS POSTPONE GAME

MORAGA, Nov. 19.—UP—The postponement of St. Mary's game with Washington State from Thanksgiving Day to the following Saturday has given Slip Madigan's Gaels an additional "breathing spell" which they are only too glad to get after Sunday's exhausting game with Santa Clara.

WORLD SERIES GOLF TOURNEY WINS BACKING

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 19—UP—[illegible] Carter, Oklahoma millionaire who put up the money to bring the nation's golf profession to [illegible] City this fall, and had no cause to regret his step, now is planning a "world series" in golf.

Carter's idea is to hold two tournaments simultaneously, one for the pros and one for the amateurs, with the winners meeting for the world's title. The shooting would be over the Twin Hills course, owned by Carter and the scene of this year's National PGA tourney.

Carter talked over the idea with PGA officials and the leading pros and found them receptive. He would offer them a pot of $10,000 to make it worth their while and would compensate the simon pures in some suitable manner.

AMATEURS PLAY AT DALLAS

The national Amateur will be held in Dallas next September, and Carter would hold his big tournament in October, thus making it easy for the amateurs to move from one battleground to the next.

Play would be match contests, thus contrasting with the National Open, the only big meet open to both classes, where it is medal performance the entire route.

Whether the plan will go through is doubtful, but if it does it will be an interesting experiment. The $10,000 is bound to interest professionals, and most of the amateurs would enjoy a chance to top the topnotch pros at medal play.

LIONS CLUB GUEST ALBANY ROTARY CLUB

The local Lions Club was the guest on Monday noon of the Albany Rotary Club at Memorial hall in Albany. The Rotary Club presented for their entertainment a musical program put on by the Albany high school band.

The speaker of the day was Professor Hart of the University of California whose talk on the press in America was captioned "Does the Press Tell the Truth?" The professor thought that, generally speaking, the press is too much influenced by powerful advertisers to tell the strict truth upon all occasions, and this he felt to be detrimental in many way to the best good of the country.

The Lions Club will resume holding its regular Monday evening dinners at the Budweiser Tavern next Monday.

MRS. McNEIL ENTERTAINS HARMONY BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Blake McNeil was hostess this week on Monday to the members of the Harmony bridge club. Following a delicious noon luncheon, the afternoon was devoted to bridge, the prizes going to Mrs. A. J. Peralta, Mrs. Ella Ralph and Mrs. Jessie Wilson.

Mrs. Peralta will be next week's hostess.

LADIES' AID BAZAAR AND DINNER SATURDAY

The Ladies Aid of the Community M. E. Church will hold an all day sewing and social meeting tomorrow at the church parlors.

On Saturday from 6 to 8 P. M. a turkey dinner will be served at Memorial hall. In connection with this the Aid will hold its annual bazaar. This will also be an all-day event.

SLOAN RECOVERING FROF EMERGENCY OPERATION

Robert Sloan, son of Mrs. D. Cantrell, who was formerly a citizen of El Cerrito but who now lives in San Francisco, is in the Humboldt hospital in Albany where he underwent an emergency operation the first of the week. He is improving according to the latest report.

DOYLE BROTHERS HAVE HARD LUCK STREAK

A. C. Doyle of the Doyle Service Station is confined to his home again with a heart attack. His brother J. A. Doyle of Oakland was injured badly in a car accident recently and is in an Oakland hospital with six broken ribs and a broken collar bone. His condition is said to be improving, however.

BRONCHIAL ASTHMA

In yesterday's article, I discussed some of the disorders affecting the organs of breathing and in today's article, I am going to restrict the discussion to one of the very common diseases, bronchial asthma, which disorder affects that portion of the breathing apparatus called the bronchi. Bronchial asthma is marked by an irritation of the mucous membrane lining the bronchial tubes and its characteristic symptom is difficulty in breathing. The name asthma comes from the Greek word meaning "panting" and was given the disease because the patient literally pants for air, during an attack.

The three main causes of asthma are: first, a tight diaphragm; second, the formation of excessive amounts of stomach gas; and, third, the obstruction of the bronchial tubes with mucus, which is secreted by the mucous membrane in unusual amounts. These are the fundamental causes which must exist before an attack develops. The membrane lining the bronchial tubes becomes engorged and sensitive and this sensitive membrane will then be influenced by any of those causes which serve to excite the attack, such as breathing in dust, pollen, fumes, or cold air. However, once the underlying causes are removed, the exciting causes lose their power to induce an attack.

The relief of asthma depends upon the development of a strong diaphragm. The diaphragm is the strong, flat breathing muscle which separates the lungs from the stomach and intestines. In the typical asthmatic, the diaphragm is weak and will be unable to do its work in assisting the breathing process. Once this weakness is present, breathing will become more difficult for the patient as soon as sufficient gas accumulates in the stomach or in certain portions of the intestine and the patient will be unable to move the diaphragm up and down efficiently to facilitate breathing.

I find that many people do not understand the importance of bringing about a better development of the diaphragm for the relief of bronchial asthma. This is best accomplished by certain breathing exercises which at the same time produce another desirable result, which is, restoring the lungs and chest to normal. Usually the patient will try to accomplish the desired result through chest breathing which is a useless procedure because the asthmatic will do most of his breathing in the top of the chest. The only exercises which will do the good required are those which teach the patient how to breathe in the lower part of the chest and how to make an active use of the diaphragm during the breathing process. At first, it is generally advisable that the patient do the breathing exercises in front of a mirror with the object of watching closely to see if the breathing movement takes place in the correct area which includes the lower chest and the upper abdomen. Instead of chest breathing, the patient should be taught diaphragmatic breathing. These breathing exercises must be continued, even after the asthma has disappeared. The exercises which I particularly recommend are outlined in my article called Breath Control.

In addition to developing a better diaphragm, it is important that the patient learn how to combine his foods so as to avoid flatulence as the accumulation of gas will cause an upward pressure against the diaphragm. Also, it is advisable that the patient avoid those foods which bring about a greater secretion of mucus, which foods are the starches and sugars. These are the same foods most likely to cause flatulence and the patient therefore gains a double benefit through omitting them at the beginning of the treatment. It has been my experience that asthma may be permanently relieved if the patient is willing to develop a stronger diaphragm and is willing to regulate his diet.

I will be glad to send you additional information on ASTHMA and the 3 articles now available on this subject, including the article on BREATH CONTROL. To obtain the 3 articles, write to me in care of this newspaper and enclose ten cents and one large, self-addressed envelope.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Fluoroscope)

Question: Mrs. Hiram K. writes: "I notice that you frequently recommend having an examination with the fluoroscope. What is it?"

Answer: The fluoroscope is a special kind of X-ray. The chief value of the X-ray is its use in studying the deeper tissues of the body; with the fluoroscope, we may study the moving organs such as the stomach, intestines, heart and lungs, watching them at their work. The fluoroscope consists of a screen and after having taken a test meal containing barium, the patient stands before the screen. The test meal may then be watched during its passage through the entire digestive tract. The fluoroscopic examination will yield important information such as, how long it takes the stomach to empty, whether the stomach or intestines are prolapsed, how fast food passes along the large intestine, whether intestinal adhesions have formed, whether a spastic contraction exists, and other information. I consider the fluoroscope of the greatest value in the correct diagnosis of disease; however, the ideal examination combines examination with the fluoroscope, with X-ray pictures, these pictures being obtained by using another type of X-ray equipment. As a general rule, the patient finds the fluoroscopic examination of interest, since he is naturally greatly interested in learning how the vital organs are doing their work.

(The Most Serious Disease)

Question: H. J. wants to know: "What is the most serious disease from the standpoint of public health?"

Answer: Heart disease. Deaths attributable to this cause are steadily increasing, and the incapacity for work which is induced by cardiac disorders is a serious public health problem.

A. C. Peterson formerly of the Fairmont and San Pablo branch of the Mechanic's Bank is now with the Albany branch. His place here is now being filled by Frank Giaramita who came here from the Potrero branch of the bank.

Annual Dinner Of C. C. To Be Held Tonight

PROGRAM COMPLETED

President Sanford announced that the program has been completed. It will be built entirely round industry with the slogan "Looking Ahead With 1936." Sanford himself will sum up some of the reasons, national and local, why industry should go full steam ahead, and why business and general prosperity should follow it, and he will present a number of outstanding industrialists who will present various phases of the same picture out of the wealth of their experience in their respective lines.

Among others, there will be a railroad man who has recently returned from the east and who will bring an interesting close-up of the developments now well under way making for a decided improvement in conditions. It was pointed out that any improvement in general conditions over any long period of time is bound to react with dramatic force on Richmond, because Richmond specializes in the manufacture of commodities which are consumed far and wide, thereby bringing in the money of people in distant places to increase prosperity locally.

ALL WELCOME

President Sanford emphasized that the meeting is open not only to members of the Chamber but to others as well, and urged the public generally to attend. Members will take a particular interest inasmuch as nominations will be received to fill the offices of five directors whose terms expire—E. B. Bull, J. A. Christie, Dr. W. E. Cunningham, T. H DeLap, Gifford T. Douglas, J. Lindsay Hanna and J. A. McVittie.

Bond Forfeit Case Submitted

MARTINEZ, Nov. 19.—Superior Judge A. F. Bray today had taken under submission an action filed by the Coast Surety company against Justice of the Peace Clifford L. Thomson of Walnut Creek seeking review of a case in which Justice Thomson ordered forfeiture of $800 in bonds in the Willows gambling raid.

Attorney George Carmody argued on behalf of the surety company while Deputy District Attorney Gordon Turner represented the justice court.

Officers raided the Willows club, resort on the Tunnel road and six men were arrested. When the case came up two men were fined and four pleaded not guilty and had a date set for trial.

When the date of trial arrived the trial was started but Justice Thomson halted it, ordering the bail bonds forfeited when he determined the men in court were not the men arrested.

In seeking the review of the case the bail bond company alleges the men in court actually were the men for whom the bail bonds were originally executed, and that there were no deputy sheriffs present when the arrested men posted their bail.

PLACE: Hotel Carquinez.
THEME: "Looking Ahead With 1936."
CHAIRMAN: P. M. Sanford.

The year 1935 has been a busy year, with problems and with triumphs.

The year 1936 will be a busy year, with more problems that can only be solved by united community effort, and with triumphs exactly in accordance with these efforts.

It has always been that way in the past. It will always be that way in the future.

The Chamber of Commerce is the avenue through which united community effort makes itself felt. It is the chamber that solves our important problems and brings our important triumphs.. new industries, greater payrolls, increased prosperity for all.

At the Annual Meeting of the Chamber of Commerce all our best thoughts regarding the continued development and progress of Richmond will be brought into focus. The program will be built around industry. It will reveal Richmond's place as a growing industrial city of the Pacific coast. It will touch upon the general improved national conditions upon which the prosperity of any local community must naturally depend.

This is YOUR meeting. All our Annual Meetings have been milestones in Richmond's history. This one will differ from others only in that it will be more challenging, more interesting, and wider in scope.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—A bomb shell is waiting behind the scenes for hundreds of business concerns which sell goods and services to the government.

The Guffey Coal Act requires government agencies to buy coal only from companies which are operating under the code provided in the Guffey act. Few know, however, that there is a section (14-a) in the Act—slipped in just before it passed—that bars the awarding of Government contracts to all industrial concerns that do not use code coal.

Under the spurring of the Bituminous Coal Board, the Procurement Division of the Treasury is moving to put this sweeping clause into effect. Several days ago it held a secret conference of government purchasing agents discuss the framing of a new contract form of Federal buying.

The effect of this provision is far reaching in the extreme.

It means that concerns selling shoes, shirts, food to the Army and Navy; utilities supplying electricity to post offices; building contractors, shell makers, warship builders, railroads carrying mail; in short, practically all industry must use code coal or do without government business.

The leverage this specification gives the Coal Board in forcing coal operators to sign the code is terrific—which is exactly why it was eased into the law. The effect of the clause is to cut off non-complying coal companies from a vast volume of business, something which few will, or can, long resist.

SELF CONTROL

A stranger walked into the office of Senator Moore, of New Jersey, the other day and asked to see him.

"The Senator is not in the city," said Jack O'Brien, his secretary. "What did you want to see him about? Perhaps I can help you."

"I'm trying to get a job and I'd like a letter of recommendation to the Bureau of Self Control."

"The Bureau of what?"

"The Bureau of Self Control.

It finally developed that the caller wanted a job in the Bureau of Space Control, which assigns office space in government buildings.

NEW ROLE

The Home Owners Loan Corporation is undergoing a quiet metamorphosis. Once a $3,000,000,000 savior of distressed home owners, it is now becoming a hard-boiled forecloser of mortgages.

The change in character is not due to a sudden accession of hard-heartedness. The HOLC is operating wholly in line with the law. With the exhaustion of its lending resources, the agency is now occupied chiefly with administering the 900,000 pieces of property on which the government made loans.

In fulfilling this function, the HOLC is finding it necessary to foreclose on homes at the rate of 150 to 200 weekly, due to failure to meet payments, abandonment of property and other causes.

To handle this growing liquidation problem the HOLC has set up a new section, the Property Management Division. In charge is Colonel Harold Lee, former New York lawyer and real estate operator, who won his coloneley overseas with the 26th Division.

The rate of foreclosure is now running one to every 40 homes mortgaged. Total liquidations to date are around 2,000 of which the HOLC still has about 400 on its hands.

Homes taken over by the government are disposed of either by renting or by selling through real estate agencies in the local communities. The disposition of the properties is so handled that real estate values are not disturbed.

GOAT GLAND VICTOR

It looks as if Dr. John R. Brinkley, famous goat-gland specialist of Kansas, has finally licked the State Department and the Federal Communications Commission in his fight to broadcast his medicinal cures from Mexico.

The Mexican Supreme Court has given Dr. Brinkley the right to reopen his radio station one of the strongest in the world just across the Texas border.

The State Department, which lodged vigorous protests with the Mexican Government, has decided that it cannot go beyond the Mexican Supreme Court.

NOTE—Charley Curtis, when Vice President, went to bat for Dr. Brinkley in his fight with the State Department.

HUSBAND HELD FOR SHOOTING OF HIS SPOUSE

REDDING, Nov. 18.—UP— Because he suspected his wife of indiscretions with Harry Senecal, 48, Oakland welder, Earl Carroll, Kansas City Mo., transient laborer, was in jail here for the slaying of Senecal and the attempted killing of Mrs. Carroll.

Police said Carroll admitted the shooting, which occurred at a camping ground at Redding.

Authorities reported that Carroll told them he found his wife and Senecal in a compromising position Sunday night. He would have shot them then if he had had a gun, he said.

Monday a neighbor left his tent in Carroll's care. Inside were two guns.

Telling his wife he was going to town, Carroll hid in the camp ground and shot Senecal and the woman with the neighbor's guns when he found them together.

Mrs. Carroll was struck by two bullets but was not believed to be in a serious condition.

Senecal came here several weeks ago on a welding job for the Pacific Gas & Electric company. The Carrolls came here three months ago from Kansas. They have four sons ranging in age from 5 to 14 years.

POIGNANT LOVE STORY HEADS NEW FOX BILL

A dramatic story, rich in its sympathies, eloquent in its unusual story dealing with the fundamentals of a girl who has erred and her right to love again, "Way Down East" comes to the Fox theatre today at the head of a double program which will also see a Thanksgiving turkey night give-a way.

"The Payoff" starring James Dunn, Claire Dodd, Patricia Ellis, and Alan Dinehart will also screen on this program. Because of the Thanksgiving turkey to be give away, the first evening show will start at 6:00 P. M.

Derived from the play whose force and appeal have made "Way Down East" America's greatest melodrama for more than 40 years, the picture tells the story of two who fought against bigotry and hatred for the right to live and love.

OLD LOVE STORY

"Way Donw East" is a love story that can never grow old. The age old question, "Shall one flaming, impulsive sin brand a too-trusting woman?" is answered when the defenseless girl, crucified by gossip, tries to rebuild her life. Far from the scene of her wrong, in a remote farmhouse, she hopes to be free from the scorpion tongues of scandal.

Here, sheltered and secluded, she fights for the right to love and be loved. A glorious son of the seil offers her the gift of his first love. In the climax, wonder mounts as fate and heroic youth battle for this lost girl.

NOTABLE CAST

Slim Summaerville, Andy Devine Astrid Allwynn, Edward Trevor and Spring Byington are some of the others who are said to make the picture a memorable one.

"The Pay-Off" a story of newspaper sport writers and their adventuresome romances shares the program. James Dunn, Claire Dodd, Alan Dinehart, Patricia Ellis and Frankie Darro are starred.

San Francisco Police To Clamp Down Game Lid

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—UP—San Francisco's Big Game night, when hilarious sons of Stanford and California celebrate their annual football game, will be allowed no police concessions this year, Chief of Police Quinn said today.

The announcement was in line with the police department's order to clamp down on night clubs and enforcement of the 2 a. m. closing law for liquor establishments.

"There will be no concession on Big Game night" Quinn said. "We may allow extra priveleges on Christmas and New Year's Eves, but will apply only to the closing regulations."

Special attention will be paid to apprehending liquor vendors who sell to minors, Don Marshall, chief liquor control officer for the State Board of Equalization, said.

Helped The Quints

THESE TWO women, Mary Jane LeBol and Donelda LeGros, assisted in ushering the first two of the Dionne quintuplets into the world before Dr. Allen R. Dafoe arrived, at the northern Ontario birthplace. On their way to Cincinnati they were detained by immigration restrictions at Windsor, Ont., but are shown passing through at last.

Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19—UP—The stars still cling to the personal "trade mark" idea, especially the comedians.

Harold Lloyd has his glasses, Chapin his toothbrush mustache and cane, Joe Penner and Bob Woolsey their cigars, Laurel and Hardy their dizzy getups, Eddie Cantor his banjo-eyed ogle, and so on down the line.

Then there's Mae West with her gay-ninety curves and undulating walk. Harlow with her platinum blonde hair (recently dyed brown as an experiment, John Barrymore with his lift of eyebrow and even Bing Crosby with the add little lilt in his voice that nature gave him as a well-nigh inimitable trade mark among singers when she fashioned a small growth in his throat.

Nor is Crosby the only one with a natural trade mark. The fans identify Garbo with a dramatic heaviness of voice and accent, Dietrich with a fascinating trick of the eyelids, Bill Powell with a natural savuity o fexpression, Lupe Velez with explosive temperament, and Doug Fairbanks, Sr., with a grin.

But among "serious" players the trade mark is gradually going out. The advent of sound made pictures more comparable to the theater, where the greatest stress is laid upon acting and individuality.

Perhaps it was Chapin who popularized the trade mark among comedians in the days of one-reelers. His mustache and absurd clothes were copied widely. Lloyd reversed the order, and instead of wearing clothes too big for him he chose them too small. Then he hit on the idea of wearing glasses.

"I'm going to keep them as long as I'm on the screen," he says. They are my professional trade mark, but they also give me an advantage in private life that many other movie people would be willing to pay for. They change my appearance so well that when I take them off and stroll down the street I usually go unrecognized. I can come and go like anybody else—and that's something!"

Kelly Declares Highway Funds May Be Slashed

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19 UP If the Golden Gate bridge district fails to advance $700,000 toward financing the span's northern approach, other state highway project allocations must necessarily be trimmed, Earl Lee Kelly, director of public works indicated today.

Kelly reiterated his request for the $700,000 from the bridge directors, which he said would supplement $1,000,000 of State funds, $300,000 of Federal lands money, and $1,000,000 which the State will advance on the chance that it will be paid back by the Federal government.

The $700,000, Kelly said, would be owed the district pending repayment of $1,700,000 by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

Meanwhile, Kelly prepared to meet in conference with the bridge directors in San Francisco tomorrow, at which time opposing viewpoints of the tangled Waldo approach situation will be aired.

NEW DISPUTES THREATEN NEW COAST TIE-UP

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—UP—A new waterfront dispute which may tie up all ships in intercoastal and Gulf of Mexico service, threatened tonight as shipowners reported refusal of Pacific Coast seamen to sign articles unless "strike riders" guaranteeing them transportation home are attached.

The "strike rider" would provide that in the event there is labor trouble in any port of call, the crew is free to leave the ship with all expenses, plus wages, paid back to the port of signing on.

3 SHIPS TIED UP

Shipowners said there are three ships tied up in San Francisco harbor now by this new demand of the seamen. The ships listed are the Plow City of the Nelson line, the Sage Brush of the Shepard Line and the Dollar liner, President Taft.

The employers pointed out that if the Dollar line acceded to the demand and the crew of the President Taft struck when the ship reached New York, the company would be forced to spend about $13,000 in returning the men to San Francisco.

A definite decision on whether the Maritime Federation of the Pacific, now in emergency convention behind closed doors, will support the longshoremen's boycott of cargo from or to Gulf of Mexico ports was expected tomorrow, Henry Schmidt, chairman of the convention publicity committee announced.

Meantime, in San Pedro, the tie-up of the freighter Oregon, the crew of which refused to sail because it was believed the vessel carried aviation gasoline destined for Italian Somaliland, prepared to sail tonight.

SEAMEN CHANGE MINDS

SAN PEDRO, Nov. 19—UP—Crew of the freighter Oregon, purportedly loaded with war supplies, including 36,000 drums of gasoline believed intended for Italian ports, late tonight suddenly decided not to take the boat out of the harbor.

Earlier today the seamen agreed to handle the vessel after operators promised them "war bonuses" and insurances on personal effects.

Less than an hour before the vessel was scheduled to sail, the seamen held a conference and decided they would not take the Oregon out of the harbor because they would be "made to appear mercenary" if they handled cargo reportedly destined for the Italian army in Ethiopia.

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT

By DON O'MALLEY

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—The coppers who raided the annual show of the Illustrators Society at the Heckshen theater, last week, pulled what will probably be the prize boner of the year.

The Illustrators' show is a private blow-out given for the benefit of charity by the most prominent pen and ink artist in the country. It is a somewhat risque affair, but no tickets are sold to the public, and it has been attended for more than twenty-five years by men prominent in all walks of life.

The actual facts behind the raid did not get into the public records. What happened was due to an over-ambitious precinct head who had become worried because of a threatened shake-up in the police department. He had previously been criticized for laxity in his district, and on this particular night he decided to make up for lost time while the making up was good.

He began by raiding three gambling joints. For a long time their existence had not been exactly unknown to him, so that he was sure of a strike. Half an hour later he remembered that someone had described the Illustrators' show as a kind of rough affair. He didn't know much about it, but suspected he would get some useful publicity. Flushed with the spirit of accomplishment after the gambling raids, he sent his men on to the Heckaher theater with orders for a pinch.

He probably still doesn't know what hit him. In the first place, the audience not only contained such prominent artists as Howard Chandler Christy and Denys Wortman, but also several city magistrates and eminent industrial executives. In the second place, Police Commissioner Valentine knew nothing about the raid until after it was over, and had to do some fast talking to get out of his embarrassment.

And finally Mayor LaGuardia himself had received four tickets to the show and had promised to attend, but the Mayor happened to go to the hospital that afternoon, and so was not in the audience.

SHARP Society is going in heavy for angeling new shows, Jock Whitney is already known all over town as Park Avenue's greatest gift to Broadway. Color movies were indebted to him for his initial support, and "Jumbo" is his most recent splurge.

Angels don't always profit by their mortal investments, but Mrs. George L. Backer is going to cash in nicely on Sidney Kingsley's "Dead End." Several months ago Norman Bel-Geddes, producer of the show, invited some friends to his studio on East 37th street to hear the play read.

Most of the guests frowned severely after the final curtain line. Mrs. Backer, daughter of the late banker, Mortimer Schiff, thought differently and bought a 12½ per cent share. Geo Wood, of the Chase National Bank, who last year had a big slice in the successful "Sailor, Beware" took a 20 per cent holding. The play, it turns out, is the dramatic smash of the season.

Some of these society folk really use their lorgnettes to see.

JUDGE DELAYS LAMSON JURY CHALLENGES

SAN JOSE, Nov. 19—UP—Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco today postponed until 10 a. m. Wednesday on a defense petition challenging the jury panel for David Lamson's third trial on murder charges.

Judge Trabucco earlier had indicated that he would give his ruling on the petition late today.

Lamson's trial originally was scheduled to get under way today, after prolonged delays caused by defense efforts to force Federal courts to take jurisdiction in the case.

Defense Attorney Leo R. Friedman contended that the late Charles English, jury commissioner, usurped functions of the court when he asked the prospective jurors in the trial whether they favored or opposed the death penalty.

Prosecutor Allen P. Lindsay argued throughout the afternoon against the defense motion to declare the entire jury panel invalid.

Friedman offered other threats of delay to start of the trial. He informed Judge Trabucco, named by the State Judicial Council to hear the trial after Superior Judge Robert R. Syer voluntarily withdrew, that he intended to file an appeal with the U. S. Supreme Court to force further consideration of the plea for federal jurisdiction.

Only yesterday the ninth circuit court of appeals denied Friedman's application for permission to file for a writ of mandate which would compel Federal Judge A. F. St. Sure to assume jurisdiction.

Friedman and Defense Attorney Ed Rae contend that Lamson, accused of the "bath tub" murder of his pretty brunette wife, Memorial Day, 1933, cannot obtain a fair trial in Santa Clara county.

Alma Whittaker, social butterfly in the little town of Burntwood, falls in love with Johnny Anthony a nobody who turns up from nowhere and becomes golf pro at the country club. He seems to be in love with her but, because of some mysterious secret in his past flings up a barrier between them. When Alma's father goes bankrupt and suffers a breakdown, her Aunt Harriet Falkan takes them into her home and tries to marry her off to the rich Sig Borndike. Alma rejects him but, to spite Johnny lets him think she and Sig are engaged. Johnny decides to leave Burntwood and, in telling Alma goodby, says he hopes she gets "that money" and enjoys it.

CHAPTER XX

THE door had scarcely closed on Johnny when Alma crumpled up on the divan and burst into a storm of tears.

"I'm such a fool," she sobbed, "such an utter idiot to care so, Caroline! Everything he does, every word he speaks has the power to hurt so cruelly! I—I wish I'd never met him, never seen him!"

"Alma," Caroline said earnestly "what happened? Did you quarrel? Why did he act so strangely and what did he mean by that last remark—about the money he hoped you'd enjoy?"

"I guess," Alma said miserably "he meant Sig. He evidently thinks I'm going to marry him. At least, I didn't deny what he said before, about my being engaged."

"But why, if you care so much, do you let him go on thinking that?" exploded Caroline in exasperation. "I can't see why you don't tell him you're not engaged!"

"He's had reason — too much reason—already, to think I'm in love with him. Crazy over him! So it's just as well to let him think I'm engaged to Sig I'm not throwing myself at any man's head. Caroline This is Johnny's decision—not mine And until he wants me badly enough to explain things — to tell me what stands between us—I'm through with him He needn't think he can play dog in the manger!"

"Alma Whittaker!" Caroline scolded "You know perfectly well you don't believe that of Johnny Anthony! You know perfectly well that whatever his reasons are for keeping silent they must be good ones That's just hurt pride that makes you talk like that!"

ALMA wiped the tear streaks from her face.

"For all I know" she said bitterly, "he may be married!"

"I don't believe it!" Caroline blazed "He'd have told you if he were He's not the sort to deceive a girl about a thing like that!"

"Why do you stick up for him so Caroline?" Alma asked curiously

Caroline laughed shortly "Once," she said briefly "I was in love but I let a lot of foolish pride and lack of faith wreck things completely "I'll be an old maid before long. Alma, and I might have had a home, husband and happiness if I'd had gumption enough to hold to my belief in—a man!"

"But what can I do?" Alma protested, in weary defeat. "He has this past—whatever it is. Apparently he can do nothing about it."

"You can quit taking an injured attitude and making things hard for him. And you can quit deceiving him, for instance about Sig because of your false pride. If you really love him and if you're sure he loves you, you'll stand by until he's in a position to speak. If he loves you enough, he won't give up easily He'll find some way of overcoming the obstacle,whatever it is."

The clock chimed eleven.

"I must be going," said Alma.

"Alma," Caroline said suddenly "let me go job-hunting with you tomorrow. I'd love it! I might even get something to do myself!"

"Oh I wish you would come with me!"

"Fine! I'll call for you in my car. What time?"

"Oh early in the afternoon I'll be over at the old place. It's going to be sold at noon. After that, I'm a girl without a home I shall probably live in a hall bedroom and eat tinned beans."

"You mean you're not going to stay with your Aunt Harriet? How come?"

"The scandal we've brought is too much." Alma explained wryly. "So Aunt Harriet is leaving Burntwood until it dies down. She's taking Dad to Maine."

"Stay with me, Alma, until you get your bearings—won't you, please?" Caroline urged And thus it was arranged.

It occurred to Alma, when she was once more under Aunt Harriet's roof that the one person to step forward and make a place for her—to offer to share—was the one person among her friends who had the least to share!

"But probably," she mused, as she tossed in her bed, "the others don't realize just how desperate things are But anyhow Caroline came forward And her kind of friendship her sort of sharing and help, has no hitch to it! No stipulations involving marriage to a banker! Sharing seems to begin in poverty — and maybe it ends there, too!"

THE next morning, Alma walked to her old home with a feeling of resignation buoyed up by her plans for the future Here ended one journey but she was soon starting another—a new life.

Entering the living room she stared around curiously and then, startled discovered something. The big chair—hers and Johnny's —was gone!

"Where" she demanded of the auction agent "is that big chair? The tapestry chair?"

"A man just bought it and took it away miss—private sale" the agent replied "It's quite legal. The only stipulation is that we must have a certain price"

Johnny's and her chair gone! Sold privately because it was legal so long as a certain price was reached Alma turned and stumbled up the stairs But then she realized what difference did it make? Even if they hadn't sold the chair until the auction at noon she oculdn't have done anything about it — couldn't have bought it herself Not this noon nor for many noons to come, could she afford to buy even the legs to a chair like that!

MISS GRADY, MR. CROW ARE MARRIED

Miss Martha Ann Grady, of Richmond, became the bride of Adelbert L. Crow of Modesto at a quiet ceremony performed Sunday afternoon. Rev. O. A. Awerkamp read the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Grady, 215 Twenty-fifth street.

Only the immediate families attended the ceremony which was followed by a wedding supper. The couple are now en route to Denver to visit friends and relatives of Crow, planning to be gone two weeks.

Crow is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Crow Sr., Modesto ranchers, who formerly resided in Richmond. He is a brother of Mrs. Grace Malech of the Peres teaching staff.

A graduate of Richmond high school and of the nurses' training staff of Merritt hospital, the bride has been connected with the Ahwahnee sanitarium in Madera county for the past five years.

Roosevelt P. T. A. Enjoys Program By Russian Singers

An hour's program of Russian and English songs was enjoyed by members of the Roosevelt P. T. A. yesterday following their business meeting at the school. A chorus of Russian singers, now touring the state presented the program.

Mrs. Helen Miner presided over the business meeting, during which the revised by-laws were read.

Mrs. Bertha Tate, the chairman on the lecture series being held by the organization, reported that the first lecture was well received and that three more will be presented. The next will be conferred on January 16 at which time a Chinese professor will speak.

The next meeting of the PTA will be held on December 10. A home-making program will be enjoyed and a speaker will discuss the pure food laws.

MORE WOMEN AS JUDGES IS B. P. W. PLEA

A drive for the appointment of more women to city, county, state and Federal courts will be launched by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs during December, according to an announcement made yesterday by Miss Charles Ormond Williams, president.

"More well-qualified trained women are needed in judicial posts," Miss Williams said. "The great public service rendered by so many judges has blazed a trail for more women in the field.

"We appeal to the American Bar Association and to the State Bar Association to recommend a greater number of equipped, qualified women lawyers for judicial posts."

OPTOMETRIST SPEAKER FOR WILSON P. T. A.

Dr. M. W. Morgan, local optometrist, told members of the Wilson PTA yesterday afternoon the importance of good eyesight for school children. The speaker declared that if children's eyes were tested before they are six eyars old, many cases of faulty vision which appear later in life may be corrected.

Following his talk, the children of the various classes of the school presented a program, showing the difference in educational facilities years ago and now.

A short business meeting was held by the ladies with Mrs. L. Ingram presiding. Tea was served by Mrs. Jack Galvin, Jr.

No meeting will be held by the PTA in December; the next session has been called for January.

Important news for mothers and teachers comes from Vicks Chemists as one result of their thirty years' specialized study of colds. In clinical tests among 5,118 school children, nearly half (40.20 pct.) of the time ordinarily lost from school on account of colds was saved by followers of Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds.

This is only one of the impressive findings from three series of clinical tests of the Plan, conducted over a three-year period, among 14,702 people—including both adults and children. Gratifying results were indicated in fewer, shorter and milder colds for followers of the Plan.

To help reduce children's absences from school on account of colds, mothers in Richmond are being given complete details of Vicks Plan, and trial packages of its specialized aids to better home control of colds.

You will also find the Plan fully explained in each package of Vicks Va-tro-nol—first aid in preventing many colds—and Vicks VapoRub—the mother's standby in relieving colds.

A social hour of whist and bowling concluded last night's meeting.

VALLEJO CHEF FACES OUSTER TO HOME LAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19—UP—George Goeffrian, 42, year old Vallejo hotel chef, arrested today by immigration officials upon suspicion of attempting to enroll United States sailors at Mare Island into the Communist party, was revealed tonight as a district party organizer "assigned" to the army and navy in the bay region.

Immigration officers took Goeffrian into custody following issuance of a United States warrant. He was held in Alameda county jail pending probable deportation.

Authorities at Angel Island said Goeffrian, a former corporal in the French army, entered the United States in 1913, served in the army against Mexico in 1918, and returned in 1927.

They said he was charged with recruiting Mare Island sailors into the communist party, presumably for service as active party workers.

Officials compared the case with recent disclosures of similar activity among army soldiers at the San Francisco Presidio, culmination of which was the arrest of Isaac Finklestein and his subsequent deportation as an alien and communist party recruiter.

THANKSGIVING DAY

In the West's largest Homemakers' Bureau these experts prepare — and test — foods, recipes, menus

They offer you help today— and 365 days a year

For weeks, Thanksgiving inquiries from housewives have been pouring in. And into the mail bags these Safeway home economists have popped thousands of tested suggestions.

You see, gathering facts for you on how to serve tempting meals gracefully — in shorter time — is the life work of Julia Lee Wright, nationally know Safeway home economist.

It's also the full-time job of all her staff at the Safeway Homemakers' Bureau, largest in the West.

Constantly they scheme out ways to help stretch your food dollar at your Safeway grocer's.

The Bureau turns out menus, recipes and cooking advice to the tune of 93,000,000 printed pages a year. Over 50,000 requests are answered annually.

And day by day, the Bureau tests — and approves or rejects — a vast number of foods before they are offered to the public.

* * *

DID you know that this largest-homemakers'-bureau-in-the-West is part of the same business family to which your Safeway grocer belongs?

When you want new "kitcheneering" ideas, your Safeway grocer invites you to write the Homemakers' Bureau for special help—suggestions to meet your personal needs in preparing the "daily three."

Mind you, your Safeway grocer and Mrs. Wright's home economic experts are partners. They work at a job very vital to you.

And they have other partners, too. Skilled Safeway buyers in the farming districts, trained shippers, testers, food handlers and marketing men.

What is the vital job this Safeway family is doing?

It is the job of getting fine foods from the farms to market faster—with less expense and less waste in between.

THANKSGIVING DINNER PLANS

They don't "guess" at the Homemakers' Bureau. Every recipe and menu—each food that is used —gets a real "housewife test." Even table decorations and party favors are carefully worked out.

How to use the Bureau? Send your inquiry on any homemaking problem to Julia Lee Wright, Box 660, Oakland, California.

FREE THANKSGIVING HELPS

Special leaflets (sent without charge) are offered on Thanksgiving dinner menus, tempting recipes and party games. Or the Homemakers' Bureau will prepare suggestions especially for you.

Ask, too, about ways to entertain, menus for children, tips on how to tell good meat, good fish, the freshest vegetables.

It's the job of lowering retail prices —and also paying back to the farmer a larger share of every dollar spent at Safeway stores.

Quite easily you can test what your Safeway grocer can save you. Do all your trading at his store for just one month. Keep a record of what you spend.

Then compare your monthly outlay with your total food bills for the previous month. Start this test tomorrow . . . S. A. Skaggs, Division Manager for Safeway and Piggly Wiggly Stores, 5725 E. Fourteenth Street, Oakland, California.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

The Wonderful Combination of Organs That Makes Speech Possible

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

IT IS safe to assume that the development of speech begins with the first moments of life. The child's first cry is probably only a reflex, due to the sudden change of temperature in the skin and the first efforts to breathe. Possibly for the next few weeks crying is only a reflex irritation from hunger and pain.

DR. CHRISMAN

Later it becomes a voluntary performance as the child learns that crying will result in attention from its mother. The act of crying is the first step in the preparation for speech; this, together with swinging the arms and kicking the legs, develops all the organs necessary for the formation of spoken sound.

During rest a regular lifting and dropping of the chest takes place with little use of the elevating muscles, but in speech it is necessary to inhale quickly and prevent a quick exhalation. This is the physiological necessity for speech.

Toward the middle of the first year the child commences to babble. There is no rhyme nor reason to it. It is simply a primitive sound. Even the deaf child babbles. The babbling can be increased by exciting the child to expressions of joy, by motions of laughter and expressive gestures.

Beginning of Speech

This babbling is but the beginning of articulate speech. The primitive sounds are formed and executed by children by ear and are repeated over and over again.

Articulate speech begins about the end of the first year. Single words are pronounced more or less distinctly, but their meaning is not probable. Speaking and understanding are two different things.

The next step is the production of the understood word. These words are usually those expressing desire or protest. The whole process of speech is one of slow mental and physical development, and unless hampered by deformities or injuries will produce a complete pattern.

Speech sounds are the result partly of breathing and partly of so-called articulation, or control and management of sound waves through the speaking trumpet. This trumpet is made up of the mouth, the nose and its sinuses, the pharynx, down the windpipe to the vocal cords.

It becomes larger when the vocal cords descend or the lips are pushed out, and shorter when they are drawn up and the mouth widened.

Oral and nasal sounds are the two distinct varieties. Oral sounds are produced when the soft palate is drawn up and the muscles of the pharynx arched up so as to shut up the nasal cavity and force the sound out through the mouth.

Nasal sounds are those made when the palate and throat muscles are not closed and the air is forced through the mouth and out the nose. These sounds are m, n, and ng. All other English sounds are oral. Anything that interferes with the action of these muscles or any deformity of the mouth or nasal cavities causes a change in the natural formation of the sound trumpet and brings about defective speech.

Types of the Defect

The most important of these are cleft palate, hare lip, deformed tongue, obstruction of the nose, paralysis of any of the muscles of the throat, tongue-tie, tonsils enlarged so as to obstruct the flow of air, or contraction of muscles.

Accidental injury to the throat or mouth or paralysis, such as paralysis of the soft palate following diphtheria, interfere with clear enunciation and require either surgery or mechanical correction or special training.

Hare lip and cleft palate can usually be corrected by surgery if begun early. If not, molds and plates similar to those a dentist makes to hold artificial teeth may be fitted so as to close the defect and enable air to pass out through the nose. Many ingenious flexible plates have been devised for correcting these deficiencies.

It is very wonderful to observe what trained teachers can do for the correction of speech defects. We only hope that our economic condition may soon allow all our schools to employ special teachers for these cases.

The world renowned case of Helen Keller shows that the almost impossible can be accomplished. She had a brilliant mind, but oh! the wonderful ingenuity and patience of her teacher!

War Reaches Paris (Styles)

War has come to Paris — the military mode seems to have taken command of the style situation and if we follow the dictates of the new fashions, we'll all be wearing frocks with soldier-effects. The new style has brought back trimming which has been absent for so long.

Profiles For Today

Dusolina Giannini in Opera at Last

By TALBOT LAKE

NO MAN—or woman—is a hero to the old home town, according to an old proverb which is very much misquoted. Such seems to be the case with Dusolina Giannini, the American dramatic soprano, who, after many years' effort, has finally been signed by the Metropolitan Opera House. Miss Giannini has appeared in this country many times as a concert artist, but has never sung in opera here. This is all the more unusual because on the continent she has won enormous success as an acting singer.

I remember hearing her sing with a symphony orchestra a few years back and thinking at the time how well that full, resonant voice would sound if set amid the scenery and hullabaloo of a "La Gioconda" or a "Cavalleria Rusticana." Of the striking Italian type of beauty, she would be just the type for the heroic sort of role which is beloved by the average citizen.

An unknown, substituting for Anna Case at Carnegie Hall, in 1923, she made a sensational success and was thereupon claimed by Europe. She was a first magnitude star in several European countries. She has made concert tours in this country, but this season will mark her first appearance in opera.

The family lived in Philadelphia. Her father, Ferucci Giannini, was a dramatic tenor. At 16, his daughter studied under Sembrich. She was pressing a skirt in her boarding house when she got the hurry-call to Carnegie — to roundabout fame in Europe, and finally acclaim at home.

Short Cuts

A folding breakfast tray is a useful household article, whether one takes breakfast in bed or not. For if you have not one vice, you are sure to have the other—the habit of reading in bed. At any rate, a breakfast tray always comes in handy when someone is ill. The tray referred to has a firm lock on both legs and holds everything steady. It is easily tilted for reading.

Guide to Charm

Routine Best Way to Keep Young Looks

By JACQUELINE HUNT

MAKE a game of transforming yourself from a drab, colorless sort of person into a charming, pretty individual everyone wants to know. Do not waste your energy fretting because you are not blessed with perfect features and a peaches-and-cream complexion.

The latter can be acquired and the first is essential to a charming, vivacious personality. Go about the things you do with a definite purpose in mind, but not the kind of purpose that keeps you tense and strained. You can do much more if you go about living with a sort of nonchalant ease.

Assemble the cosmetics and plan the beauty routine that will make your skin so clear and fair that it seems like delicate ivory with your medium brown hair and your gray or blue or hazel eyes. If you are past twenty-five your problem is not so simple, still it is not difficult. You will need the following preparations in addition to your carefully chosen decorative cosmetics. Choose these preparations carefully and when you find something that should be right for your skin give it an honest test. If after three or four weeks there isnt' a definite improvement change the treatment of the cosmetics.

MISS HUNT

When you do find the things that help your skin stick to them until some new condition indicates the need for a change. Do not be forever trying one thing and then another. Too many cosmetics, indiscriminately used, can do your skin real harm.

Among the things on your dressing table a good cleansing cream will come first. Select one that has a thin fluffy texture and melts the minute it touches your skin if your skin is normal or already tends to be oily. If your skin tends to be dry, use a slightly oilier cream and leave it on a minute longer. Use the cleansing cream during the day when you renew your make-up and before your nightly soap and water cleansing. Wipe away all of the soiled cleansing cream with tissues and then wash.

Every skin needs a pure, bland soap and a complexion brush that does a thorough cleansing job and stimulates the circulation. Many of the better houses are now getting out little combination sets of really excellent soap and small firm bristled complexion brushes. Rinse your skin as carefully as you wash it.

Have a good tissue cream and use it two or three times a week, oftener if you have past your thirtieth birthday. Tissue creams contain gentle, stimulating oils that lubricate your skin and keep it soft and firm.

Skin tonic or astringent comes next. This is necessary for keeping the pores fine and free from blemishes. Experiment until you find one that is right for your skin, or if you cannot afford to experiment, witch hazel diluted with rose water makes a satisfactory tonic for many skins.

In applying tonic or astringent, use a patter or a pad of clean cotton that has been squeezed out of cold water. Pat gently but rapidly from the base of your neck to your chin, then from the checks along the jawbone to the temple and from the chin over your cheeks. The gentle pulling and lifting, combined with the patting, is good for the skin and for toning lazy muscles.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "Can you tell me if chicken, fish and eggs could cause pimples? I have a dreadful skin and would like to try to improve it by dieting.—M."

Unless you have an allergy to the foods you mention there is no reason why they should cause any digestive disturbance that would result in pimples. However, your diet may be otherwise unbalanced. An excess of sweets, fats and starches in your diet will definitely lead to an excessively oily condition of the skin which is directly responsible for pimples and other skin ailments.

Eat more fresh and dried fruits, green leafy vegetables and skimmed milk, with lean meat, eggs and fish included in your menus once or twice daily. Cod liver oil and vitamin-and-mineral-rich tomato and orange juice will also build up your resistance and discourage the pimples. For local treatment, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet on blackheads and acne.

Luxurious Furs Feature New York's Horse Show

By IRENE VAIL

New York — If any lingering doubts of the depression are disturbing your peace of mind, New York's annual horse show should lay them to rest. Always the occasion for thoroughbred fashions, this year's display outdid itself. As usual, luxurious furs were the outstanding note. This year it was the fur cape that carried away the blue ribbon. Capes were of all shapes and sizes. By all means have a fur cape if this is your fur buying year. A fur cape or a fur swagger coat.

Tweeds for daytime, velvets for evening is the style message flashed from the arena. Black velvet is an old, old story, but still one of the smartest ever told. In all fairness, however, I must report that many women who formerly considered black not only the best, but the only thing to wear for great occasions, are seen about in color. It's a reflection of the rich Renaissance, of course, and is particularly lovely when velvet is chosen.

There never was a type of hat more flattering to women than a velvet one, especially when veiled —and permitting generous views of a beautiful coiffure. Such hats, in most amusing shapes, as well as more conservative ones, are again worn and trimmed with either a feather of sorts or some other ornament.

All this adds just a bit more elegance to a season remarkable for the richness and beauty of its clothes. The reappearance of strands of pearls, one, two or three, is to be expected at this time. Many high-cut bodices depend entirely on pearls for trimming, while others still make use of one or two clips, usually two.

The old-fashioned dancing pump with tailored bow is back in circulation, and so are strange-looking shoes inspired by monks of old. They are slip-ons, with slashings across the instep and all manner of unusual details. Many think shoes are getting higher, or rather will continue to get higher, since they have really been doing so. Anyway, shoes are interesting enough to stop the show.

Modes and Manners

QUESTION: "Upon entering a restaurant recently I met a chap who used to go to school with me. He was sitting all alone and asked me to join him. After dinner, he took up both checks, but I insisted that he let me pay for my own dinner, which he did after a while. But I noticed I had embarrassed him. Wasn't it my place to pay for my own dinner?—Inez C."

ANSWER: Not under the circumstances described. The gentleman need not have asked you to sit at his table. Having accepted the invitation, you should have accepted his willingness to pay with better grace. After all, you sat down as his invited guest. The privilege of paying, therefore, was his. It was not wrong for you to attempt to pay your own check; your mistake rather was in pressing the point. It made the situation awkward.

Nuts Present Novel Dishes For the Table

By JUDITH WILSON

WOMEN are beginning to realize that nuts are more than something to be nibbled on between meals or stuffed into the spaces left in the Christmas stockings. They appreciate the richness, flavor and crunchiness that nuts give to their menus and they are beginning to keep nuts on hand for everyday use.

Nuts may be purchased in almost any way — in the "paper shells" that growers have developed for convenience, already shelled, and even chopped, if you want to save time, or glazed with a rich coat of candy and packed into decorated boxes that make grand Christmas gifts.

SUNDAY SUPPERS

Cocktails
Deviled Almond Canapes
Cheese and Tomato Rarebit on Toast Points
Sweet Pickles Stuffed Celery
Date-Nut Torte with Ice Cream
Coffee

Bouillon Cheese Sticks
Jellied Chicken Loaf with Stuffed Tomato Salad
Hot Buttered Finger Rolls
Pumpkin Nut Tarts
Spiced Cider

What can you do with nuts besides eating them or adding them to home-made candies? Add them to the stuffings of your holiday fowls, use them for garnishing and enriching salads, add them to vegetable dishes or meat loaves, nut breads and desserts of every kind. These recipes will give you an idea of their numerous uses.

Cinnamon-Nut Rolls

Mix and sift together 2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt. Rub in 5 tablespoons shortening, stir in 2/3 cup milk and work lightly to a smooth dough. Roll into a sheet 6x8 inches and spread with softened butter. Sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon and ¼ cup sliced Brazil nuts. Roll dough as for a jelly roll and slice crosswise. Place the rolls in buttered muffin tins. Bake in a hot oven about 12 minutes or until brown.

Mashed Squash with Nuts

Cut Hubbard squash in pieces, remove the seeds and stringy portions and bake in a moderate oven for 1 hour or until tender. Scoop out of the shell. Mash, add cream or melted butter enough to moisten and season well with salt, pepper and nutmeg. Add 1 cup sliced, roasted Brazil nuts to every 4 cups seasoned squash.

Date-Nut Torte

Mix ¼ cup flour or sifted, dry bread crumbs with a pinch salt, ½ teaspoon baking powder. Beat 1 egg until stiff and beat in ¼ cup sugar. Add ¼ teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup sliced dates and ½ cup chopped nuts (walnuts or pecans are nice). Stir in the flour mixture and spread in a baking pan about ¾ of an inch thick. Bake in a slow oven for 45 to 60 minutes or until the surface will spring back when pressed lightly with the forefinger. Cut in squares and serve warm with whipped cream or a small scoop of vanilla ice cream on each one.

Deviled Almond Canapes

Blanch and chop enough almonds to make 4 tablespoons. Saute until light brown in ¼ cup butter. Mix 1 tablespoon finely chopped chutney, 2 sweet gherkins, finely chopped, ¼ teaspoon salt, a dash of cayenne pepper and 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce. Mix well with the almonds and spread on small rounds of bread that have been fried until brown in butter.

FOR THAT BIRTHDAY

Granted you know how to bake a cake, the frosting may make trouble. Here's a simple chocolate one:

2 squares unsweetened chocolate, 1 1/3 cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk, 1 tablespoon water.

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk, stir over boiling water five minutes until it thickens. Add water. Cool. Spread on cold cake.

Now for the butter frosting to make the letters: 2 tablespoons butter, ¼ cup sweetened condensed milk, 1½ cups confestioner's sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter and sweetened condensed milk thoroughly Add gradually sifted confectioners' sugar and beat until the frosting is smooth, creamy and light in color. Other flavors than vanilla may be used. This frosting may be tinted any color by the addition of a little food coloring.

MODERN WOMEN

A Good Pie Is Worth Its Weight in Gold, So Why Not Bake It?

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

THE theory that love and marriage have nothing in common may or may not be true, for marriage does not lend itself to generalization.

Now pie, for instance, can be treated in a manner quite general. And pie is my subject for the moment, because it seems to be an important part of life, love, and marriage. With a chicken in every pot, good pie in the cupboard, and two cars in every garage there would be nothing to squabble about.

MRS. MARTIN

Some few days ago I read an appalling stack of figures showing the amount of pie consumed in the United States over a period of a year. And that made me think of the stacks of terrible pie I consumed during the dining-out years of my life. There seems to be a discrepancy of some sort in an industrial system that keeps so far behind demand.

A little old lady I know in New York gets a dollar a pie because her pies are good, but like all artists she has never been able to manipulate money in such manner that she can become a factory over night, with hundreds of delivery cars running about filling requirements. And, of course, it is quite obvious that if some promoter put her over, as they say in banking circles, her pies would cease to be any good. The efficiency gentlemen and the experts who learned to make pie at college would step into the picture, and that would be the end of the Pie Perfect. Mass production and excellence unfortunately do not often walk hand in hand.

Quality and Quantity

My baker, who is a chain store magnate, lets it be known through his myrmidons that he qould make better pie if his customers would pay more for his product. There we come again to the mass production basis and the attendant falling off in quality when one aims at quantity. I agree with the baker, but believe he should departmentalize his pie business, possibly have several grades, thus giving those addicts and fanatics who will pay any price for the right kind of pie a chance to enjoy the sweetness and light that makes life a song. We cannot all locate little old ladies who are satisfied to make a mere living for art's sake. My next candidate for President will be somebody capable of lifting the pie industry to the exalted position its possibilities rate.

When it comes to making pie, or anything else, for that matter, the American girl is worse off today than at any time in our national history. These drugstore and hamburger honeymoons in which so many of our young couples indulge are enough to send young husbands back home for a square meal as well as a square deal.

Marriage is not all motion picture kisses. After six months a ferocious tendency to eat well seizes even the most adoring husband and he begins to criticize bad meals. As the situation now stands the answer to his protest is change of restaurants or drugstores. Which is really no remedy at all. One is pretty much like another, because the so-called cooks go in for mass output. All such food, including pies, tastes alike. They may meet price demands, but it's poor fodder.

The Erudite Girls

Young ladies too often are all nerves. They are so frightfully intense that they wear a man down in no time at all. They seem determined to show off their learning and to impress men with their superior mental qualifications. Men do not like women who pretend to be smart. They never mean well by sophisticated women, either, as they take them at their own valuation, one that often brings grief to the ladies themselves.

I often wonder if a girl with a magnificent flair for apple pie wouldn't register with greater force than these tiresome young creatures who talk incessantly about nothing. If I know anything at all about men—although it isn't likely that anybody ever really masters the study of man—there is a demand in this country for good cooks and fewer intellectuals, synthetic and otherwise.

I can hear the faint voice of protest emanating from the business women's corner. They claim that in order to get anything out of life in the shape of luxuries they must toil and help their husbands augment the family income. This sort of argument does not always ring true. The wage scale for women is too small to make up the difference between eating out and eating at home. Not to mention the difference between eating good food and bad. I suggest we get back to original principles and breed more bread and cake bakers and fewer semi-professionals.

You and Your Child

Consult Childs' Taste Before Buying Clothes

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

ELEVEN - YEAR - OLD HELEN stood before an open closet door staring forlornly into the closet. "What's the matter? Why aren't you dressed yet?" mother asked. Then, looking at her watch, "The company will be here any minute. In fact, they ought to be here now." "I don't know what to wear. I haven't anything to wear," the girl whined.

MRS. GOWARD

It was the same old story. Mother raised her eyes ceilingward and sighed. A brand new dress hung in the closet, as well as two that were practically new and a number of older ones. However, as this was no time for a scene, mother did not stop to argue. Rather she suggested, "Let's see if I can help you decide." Helen stood by with a half-cynical expression on her face and an attitude of "Show me!" as mother took out the brand new dress. "Look at those sleeves!" burst from the child. "I hate that dress."

Again, there was no time for mother to stop and explain how suitably designed for Helen's tall, bony figure the style was. That the full sleeves were especially cut to disguise "wings," jutting shoulder-blades such as she had. As mother hung it back she knew that Helen would never wear it. One by one mother held up the other dresses. There was a comment for each one. This one made her look like a baby, Helen declared. That one: "You know I hate brown." Finally, mother held up a dress that caught the childs' interest. "Gee," she exclaimed. "I didn't know I still had that one." Mother handed it to the child unenthusiastically. She herself had never liked that dress. It was one the child had been allowed to pick out. And ever since then, mother had made sure to do the choosing.

As in this case, when a child is hard to please in the matter of dress, or does not take care of her clothes, it may be because mother imposes her taste upon her.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

FARMERS TOLD TO UNITE FOR NEW STRENGTH

SANTA CRUZ, Nov. 19.—UP — Unity among California agricultural organizations through amalgamation of the California Farm Bureau Federation and all important commodity marketing groups was urged today by Donald Kirkpatrick in an address before the 17th annual convention of the farm organization here today.

Warning that the farmer was facing a crisis in his desperate "fight with industry that is not content in minding its own business but must mind the farmer's too," Kirkpatrick stressed necessity for a solid agricultural front.

"The greater the multiplicity of farm organizations," Kirkpatrick declared, "the weaker is the structure of each, and the less chance for a unified program. With all due respect to other farm organizations, none offers the opportunity for reaching the objectives desired by agriculture which may be attained through the farm bureau."

Asserting that industry is interested only in the volume of production which makes it a prime agitator against the agricultural adjustment act, Kirkpatrick emphasized that a national farm recovery program is absolutely essential to the farmer today.

"Industry still maintains that good business means good agriculture. If the farmer is to run agriculture he must learn to manage his own affairs and the first step is cooperation in production or adjustment of production, cooperation in distribution and marketing, cooperation in financing and cooperation in purchasing," Kirkpatrick declared.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—UP —President Roosevelt tonight assured a delegation of American mayors that direct Federal aid to the nation's destitute will not be abandoned as long there is any danger that any person will go hungry.

The mayors, here in annual conference and worried about reports that the Federal government would end all relief work in July and leave the destitute to shift for themselves, heard the President discount these reports with great enthusiasm.

Handcock also became ill from the soda, but recovered. A report on the cause of Miss Ogle's death was not completed until last night when Terry and his daughter died within a few moments of each other.

WARNING BROADCAST

The Department of Health requested all radio stations in the city to broadcast warnings to householders to refrain from using bicarbonate of soda for the present, until a thorough check of the poison deaths could be made.

Dr. Geiger issued a general warning in which he cautioned all persons to use baking soda—bicarbonate of soda—for medical purposes only on the advice of a physician.

SALVAGED SODA

Joe Rosenthal, owner of the store which sold the bulk soda, said he could not understand how the product could have been poisoned.

"People take it indiscriminately. They take it for what they think are digestive ailments, yet they may have gastric ulcers, or appendicitis, and then it's fatal, anyway, Dr. Geiger commented.

The soda was salvaged merchandise, and came from damaged steamship cargoes.

POLICE ON GUARD

Police guarded the dumping room of the Manno Salvage Company plant, where the soda was purchased by Rosenthal. Health officer started a thorough search to determine the source of the arsenic in the soda.

The room was found to contain piles of powered substances—painting cleaner and washing soda, close together. Samples were taken by the health officers for analysis.

"Whether the barrels contained arsenic, or the soda itself already contained arsenic we have not been able to determine," Dr. Geiger said. "It is possible some chemical action took place while the soda was kept in bulk."

Rosenthal said discovery of the poison in the soda was all the more mystifying to him in view of the fact he drank two glasses of water containing soda from the barrels without ill effect. The compound also had been used in cooking without evidence of poison, he said.

Veteran Bureau Head Will Face Quiz By Merriam

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19.—UP — Governor Fraik Merriam tonight disclosed that he was investigating reports that Thomas M. Foley, director of State military veterans affairs, at the same time acted as attorney for the Northern California Wrestling Promoters' Association.

It was reported that Foley received, with his legal associate, William Lennier, of Oakland, $350 for one month's services.

Foley denied that he participated in representing the association, but admitted that Lennier had been hired to organize the group.

Governor Merriam said that he would question Foley.

MUSSOLINI SEES FLAWS IN SANCTIONS

FLAWS FOUND

ROME, Nov. 19—UP—Officials indicated tonight that flaws have been detected in the League of Nations sanctions front.

News reaching the Foreign Office that several foreign ministers, in accepting Italy's recent note protesting economic penalties, made certain reservations, rekindled hopes that bi-lateral accords may be reached enabling Italy to obtain many needed supplies to continue the war with Ethiopia despite the League's embargo on war materials.

The official Foreign Office spokesman reiterated that the attitude of the different sanctionists will be taken only in cases where determination to apply sanctions is found unshakeable.

If reservations are made by a sufficient number of League members, it is believed Italy will be able to negotiate agreements for many supplies, opening a wedge in the Geneva front and avoiding sanctions pinching too severely.

Further strengthening the Italian financial and economic position for the test with 52 nations, the government today published a decree which creates a monopoly on purchases abroad of gold in all forms. Imports of manufactured gold articles hereafter require a special permit from the Ministry of Finance. The monopoly is to be administered by the National Institute of Exchange.

either Wednesday evening or Thursday."

Major General Doihara categorically denied rumors that he had issued an ultimatum to the Chinese.

"NO TROUBLE"

"Let me emphasize that this is a Chinese problem," he said. "Naturally the Japanese army is offering advice for we have very vital rights and interests in North China.

"I do not think there is going to be any trouble whatever—certainly not an armed conflict."

In Nanking Chiang Kai-Shek was equally placatory.

Addressing the Kuomintang (government party) congress he said:

"I am still hopeful of peace. The hour of eventual sacrifice has not yet arrived. We must first consider the interests of the entire nation. We must be patient regarding secondary problems."

Paraphrased, Chinese here said the dictator's remarks mean that China is in no position to resist the Japanese army and if the Japanese army wants an autonomous state China must yield, for any resistance would simply result in needless slaughter—as occurred during the Shanghai incident three years ago.

Chinese here believed the new state will offer a nominal but meaningless allegiance to Nanking. They believe the Japanese army will move carefully, profiting by its experiences in the establishment of Manchukuo, and will not upset normal economic practices any more than necessary.

hair, smart clothes and suede shoes that brought her into conflict with her father who thought the outside world taught women things that were disgraceful.

For two days she had listened to the testimony, and had heard her relatives give evidence both for and against her. The commonwealth had tried to picture her as a girl gay and careless in her relations with men; the defense tried to convince the jury she was doing nothing more than "exercising her God-given right of self-defense" when she picked up a shoe and battered Trigg Maxwell's head until he had wounds from which he died.

anything at his death. The housewife wants to know whether her husband's wages are going to buy food for his family.

"There is a way to settle all these questions. That way is through abandonment of present financial and fiscal policies and return to sound policies. Do you wish a constructive fiscal program?

"The waste of taxpayers' money on unnecessary public works should end.

"The administration of relief should be turned over to local authorities. Federal expenditures for relief should be confined to cash allowances to these authorities to the extent that they are unable to provide their own funds.

"The spending for visionary and un-American experiments should be stopped.

"This horde of political bureaucracy should be rooted out.

"The provision of the Constitution requiring that expenditures shall only be in accordance with appropriations actually made by law should be obeyed. And they should be made for specific purposes.

"The budget should be balanced, not by more taxes, but by reduction of follies.

"The futile purchases of foreign silver should be stopped.

"The gold standard should be re-established, even on the new basis.

"The act authorizing the President to inflate the currency should be repealed.

"The Administration should give and keep a pledge to the country that there will be no further juggling of the currency and no further experiments with credit inflation.

"Confidence in the validity of promises of the government should be restored.

"The nation seeks for solution of its many difficulties. It is groping for security from economic storms and from individual poverty. But economic security, social security, or any other security cannot be found without first restoring these primary policies of government.

"These matters are no abstractions. They are not theoretical question of academic debate. They are the invisible forces which surround every American fireside. They determine the happiness of every American home. In their rightful direction lies the safety of these homes and the fruition of their hopes. They determine the welfare of our children and the progress of our nation."

Confession Is Made By Youth In Murder Case

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19.—UP — Police today said Bernard Bell, 27, one of two youthful bandits arrested on a kidnap-holdup charge, had confessed implication in the slaying of Robert Acquistapace, Napa, Calif., storekeeper, October 20.

Bell, under guard in Sacramento county hospital, told police, however, that his companion, Frank Pedrini, 28, held in the Woodland jail, was the actual killer of the store-keeper.

According to Bell's story, the two went to Acquistapace's store to rob him and Pedrini knocked the man out before rifling the store.

After that, according to Bell, Pedrini said:

"That guy knows me. We have to finish him."

Then Pedrini beat and kicked the store-keeper until he was dead, Bell asserted.

DOWN

AGAIN—Electric
RATES DROP

Down they go! Beginning with your January bills electric rates will be reduced for home use, for commercial lighting and large industrial power, according to the amount of electricity used.

Down goes the cost of electric cooking and water heating, lighting, for washing machines and ironers, and for all the smaller uses, from the electric clocks to the doorbell transformers, to the percolator and toaster that get the daily breakfast. Electricity becomes cheaper, too, to every merchant, large or small, and in all office buildings for commercial lighting of windows, stores, counters, signs, etc.

It is important news and good news that this reduction will save Pacific Gas and Electric Company customers nearly $4,000,000 a year. It is unusual news in these days when general living costs are pushing higher and higher. As shown in the chart above, the Cost of Living is up 33.3% above the pre-war level. The cost of electricity with the new low rates is 35.4% below that level—and that means 68.7% below today's cost of living.

Establishing a record unmatched by any other item in the cost of living, the cost of electricity has steadily gone down since 1928. Successive rate reductions since that year show an accumulated total of $54,621,000—equivalent to an annual saving to customers of over $6,800,000.
